

Putting the Pieces Together

Using theory knowledge to support performance, sight reading and aural skills

Sunday 10 March 2019, 2pm

Chartwell Cooperating Church, 126 Comries Road, Hamilton

Trinity College London music examiner, Geoffrey Coker, will take this interactive workshop, demonstrating the relevancy of music literacy to practical skills.

Registration fees

$5 IRMTNZ members, $10 non-members. To register please email waikatoirmt@gmail.com with your name and number attending, and transfer the funds to Waikato IRMT: 02-0316-0056035-00. Registrations close 4 March.

Geoffrey Coker MA(Cambridge), BMus(Wellington), LTCL, LMusTCL

Geoffrey has been an examiner for Trinity College London since 2003, and twice took part in the revision of the Singing syllabus which now includes 13 songs by seven New Zealand composers. He has examined throughout Australia, Asia, and the Middle East, as well as in the UK and New Zealand. He also adjudicates regularly at vocal and instrumental Competitions around New Zealand

Geoffrey Coker is a past president of the New Zealand Association of Teachers of Singing, and an Associate of the Institute of Registered Music Teachers of New Zealand.